We will be at the meeting tonight talking about the proposed connector road around Elba. We are in favor of the project and feel it will become a reality; but still call it a proposal cause it is still in the talking stages at this point.

Ye ole editor was a bit shocked last week to learn that in the excitement of enjoying the New Year's festivities, a number of our Elba citizens let things get out of hand and made a game of breaking the traffic laws. There were a lot of people on the square at midnight, and the reckless driving could have easily caused a tragic situation. Why normally decent folks will suddenly start racing around town wrecklessly, taunting the police to the point that 15 or 16 get arrested and police state they could have gotten 40 or 50 if there had been enough police officers, is hard for me to understand. A result of this and several other cases made against motorists for attempting to run from the police are probably what led City Judge Bill Stokes to warn several of the defendants in court Tuesday night that he was going to start jerking some drivers licenses along with the heavy fines if things didn't get better!

For a number of reasons, Alabama's child support pro-gram is considered one of the most effective programs operated by the Department of Pensions and Security, said Commissioner Gary

The child support pro gram helps control welfare costs by finding parents who desert their families and requiring them to make support payments. These payments can either wipe out or reduce the dependence of many low-income families receiving Aid to Dependent

The process of finding fathers and establishing sup-The Mexican Dolls were Lisa Holcomb, Teresa Owens, Mary Ann Sims, Pam Wambles and port payments often gives children a legal father when they otherwise would not have had one. Having a legal father provides a child with many rights, said Cooper. For instance, if the father dies or is injured, the child may qualify for Social Security benefits. "A child's self-esteem can also be enhanced if he knows that his father, and not the state, is supporting him," said

Parents may desert their families for many reasons, including avoiding financial responsibility. However, once their responsibilities are established either in court or by other means, some fathers do not seem to mind assuming some of the financial responsibility, according to Cooper. He added that the financial burden of the program on the fathers is rarely excessive.

"Although the amount of child support paid by absent fathers varies from county to county," said Cooper, "the average payment last year in parents have low incomes.'

BLEED THROUGH

The long holiday break is over and it's time for the prep basketball season to start its final stretch leading to the state ournament. The state tourney was moved up to February 24-28 this year, which means my annual trip to Tuscaloosa is now only 6 weeks away. I'm already ready to go!

I went to two Christmas tournies during the break and enjoyed both events. In the Zion Chapel Tourney, Coach Kirkland's Elba Tigers romped over 3 opponents to claim the championship trophy. The trophy marked Elba's first tourney championship in almost 10 years and upped the Tigers' record to an impressive 6-1. Elba is just now getting into the meat of its schedule, but they've put together the foundation of a good team and should post a winning record!

New Brockton didn't win the Enterprise Christmas Monday night in Kinston. Pleasant Home, Red Level, Tourney, but the 2A Gamecocks did impress a lot of folks in Brackets have not yet been Straughn and Samson. placing second! Brockton defeated 4A Enterprise and 4A Niceville to reach the finals, before dropping a heartbreaking 1-point decision to 4A power Lanier in the champions contest. The Gamecocks are a solid 2A team, and after watching them play last week, I honestly believe they could be a winning 4A team. If you don't think Brockton is tough, just ask the Lanier players. They gave the Gamecocks a standing ovation following the final game!

There are a lot of good junior high teams in this area, such as Dauphin, New Hope and Elba, but perhaps the top team in the junior high ranks is McIntyre, of Montgomery. McIntyre is averaging 106 points a game and is without a doubt a solid, all-around team. The club prides itself in being fundamentally sound, but still manages to score and score and score! Prior to the holidays, McIntyre had a big game with an unbeaten rival and many thought the game was too close to call. However, McIntyre never slowed down and rolled to an incredible 141-65 win. That's right - 141 points. Tell me they ain't Number 1!

Turning to football, how about Elba's Russ Wood making a big fumble recovery early in the Cotton Bowl. Russ made a couple of big plays on punts during the regular season, but his play Thursday got him in the honored "Instant Replay" club! Russ has seen quite a bit of action during his first two years at Alabama, and I'm sure the best is yet to come. Get 'em Russ - we all know you're going to be a great one

The Elba Clipper's weekly "South Alabama Prep Poll" returns this week and there are a few changes. I can't believe any sportswriter in the state goes to as many high school games as I do, or covers as many miles, and I think that makes me very knowledgeable about the local cage scene. Add to that the knowledge of some of my friends and you've got a panel of basketball "guessperts" as good as any to be
